City has preferred master plan designs for two new parks: Beaton Hill Park and Big Rock Park South

The New Parks

Beaton Hill Park is located approximately half a mile west of City Hall. The park is made up of two parcels that were purchased by the City in 2018. The property is named after the family that owned the farmstead for over 80 years. The vacant property totals 9.36 acres and is directly north of the three Big Rock Park properties (North, Central, and South).

Big Rock Park South is located on SE 20th St and is the third and final property of a 51-acre phased land donation by Mary Pigott. The first two parcels, North and Central, opened to the public in 2016 and 2021. Like the conditions placed on the previous two parcels, this 15-acre park will facilitate a variety of low impact active and passive activities.

Master Plan Process

Prior to commencing development or improvement on parkland, a master plan is completed by following the City's master plan process, which looks at the parkland comprehensively by involving the entire community. The process consists of three phases:

- Phase 1: Site Investigation and Analysis – Complete
- Phase 2: Park Program (Proposed Amenities and Site Character) – Complete
- Phase 3: Master Plan Development – Complete

Two to three alternatives were prepared for each park, based upon the approved park program. Based upon feedback from the community, Parks & Recreation Commission, and City Council, the alternatives were revised to one preferred design for each park. The end product will be a Master Plan Report for each park. Funds for implementing the master plans may be budgeted for in the future following adoption by City Council. Improvements to the parks may be completed in phases over time.
